Same Lord, New Soundtrack: Their Music Is Telling Us
What They Are Going Through ... Are You Listening?
Session 1-19

Presenter: Anna Scally/Cornerstone, Media

1. You do not need to know all of teens' music to use this approach; ask the teens to help you. What you need is to be open.
2. Form a team of youth music advisors.
3. Invite young people to bring in their own music for a music appreciation session.
4. Sponsor an inter-generational event; utilize ideologue, prayer and music from all the decades.
5. Become aware of the music preferences of the young people in your programs.
6. Lead an activity of searching the Scripture for references to music and inspiration for retreats and prayer services.
7. Sponsor a dance with positive values music; invite other churches.
8. Share with the young people your interest in music and your favorite songs as a teen; this will spark a great conversation.
9. Listen to the local teen radio station for 20 minutes once a week.
10. Enjoy, Enjoy, Enjoy. . . these are treasured moments.
